New Bridge Formally Opened Saturday

last link of the old Spanish Trail, the shaky wooden bridge across the Bay of St. Louis, gave way to another, a blasting one. The four-lane span of concrete Saturday took its place in place of the old, permitting the first automobile to roll over the almost two-mile bridge on US Highway 90, occupied by the new, modern spans—the state's newest bridge and "Miss Hospitality" on the water.

That marked the end of a history of the two-lane wooden bridge over the Bay of St. Louis which had been completed in 1928. The new structure, some 1,000 feet of the old bridge, has gone eight car loads of cement, sand, gravel, and enough steel to build three freight engines.

Now we mark a milestone in the westward trans-American highway construction and open new vista of development for our beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast, between Mississippi Highway Commission Chairman D. Smith, in the opening ceremony after Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin served in the absence of Gov. Hugh M. Heflin, who is recuperating from an operation, said that the bridge was part of the progress of the modern highway system of this state.

He said it would be well worth the toll in order to have safe, reliable crossing of the Bay of St.

Edna Khayat, Pascoigne, Miss., "Miss Hospitality," and Miss Suzanne Dugger, Picayune, Miss., did the honors of cutting the ribbon formally opening the bridge to the first automobile.

The collection of tolls, which will range from 25 cents for passenger automobiles to $1 for the heaviest trucks, were to begin at midnight next under a 1950 act of the Mississippi Legislature, the concrete bridge being financed by $9,700,000 in the state bonds which will be retired by the collection from the bridge, unless additional funds are found to finance the bridge.

Highway commission chairman Smith gathered at the Bay St. Louis entrance of the bridge that "I believe it will be advantageous for our state to make this bridge toll-free... it towards that end."

The bridge on US Highway 90, which is in the beginning stages, is scheduled for completion late next year.

Smith gave credit to the engineering and construction companies which built the bridge for the "finest engineering job" of bridge building.

Ed Chapman and Scott Construction Company of New York was the construction firm for the project.

Hastie and Erdel, Louisville, bridge designers, the bridge is approached on both sides by a four-lane roadway.

Erection of the bridge and roadway along with other construction work on US 90 to Pass Christian and Biloxi, and proposed in Jackson County will virtually complete the Old Spanish Trail through Mississippi Gulf Coast and the drive.

At the bridge opening ceremony, four beauties representing the two cities of Gulfport, Biloxi, Pascagoula and Pass Christian merged the Atlantic Ocean, Mississippi River and the Gulf of Mexico.

The opening of US Highway 90, marking the merging of nature was witnessed by the Atlantic-Gulf-Pacific Safe Association and four young ladies, Miss Hospitality, of their towns.

Miss Harris, Delta Princesses, Miss Rita, Queen of Pass Christian, Miss Edna, Queen of Pascagoula, and Miss Billie, Queen of Biloxi.

MEET IN YOKOHAMA

That the world is a small place was proved recently when two men, residents of Bay St. Louis and brothers-in-law, met unexpectedly in the bustling port of Yokohama, Japan.

Chief Engineer F. T. Hobbs, merchant seaman, met Pfc J. C. Estapa on the street. It had been more than a year since the men had been in contact with each other.

DIVISION RR SUPT. MEETS WITH CITY TO DISCUSS TRAIN SERVICE

M. R. Black, Divisional Superintendent for the L & N Railroad, met in Bay St. Louis, Wednesday at 10 a.m. with the Commission Council of the City and about 40 interested citizens to discuss possibilities of furthering passenger train service, in taking on the subject and discharging passengers on through trains passing through Bay St. Louis.

Letters from local civic organizations, St. Augustine's Seminary and several individuals had been written to the Commission Council requesting that the council ask for a meeting with railroad officials to determine the possibility of alleviating the hardship on commuters occasioned by the weakness link in the Old Spanish Trail.

Messages of congratulations on the new bridge were received from many groups in other states, including one from Mayor Morrison of New Orleans. Present for the ceremony were Richard W. Freeman, member of the Louisiana Board of Highways and George Covert, director of the Louisiana Highway Department.

Among other officials here were Mayor Ed Wiggin, Pascagoula; Mayor Leo Quive, Biloxi; Mayor R. E. Meadow Jr., Gulfport; State Senator Hermes Gautier, Pascagoula; State Senator J. O. Clark, Jackson; State Representative Floyd Fountain, Harrison and Jackson Counties; Walter Phillips, Hancock County; Guy Krebs, Jackson County.

Joining the ceremony were newspaper officials from several states, including George W. Hardy, Jr., editor of the Times-Picayune, Carl Conner, editor of the New Orleans Statesman and Briden Hall, publisher of the Picayune, Col. W. J. News-Journal.

A historical marker placed at the opening of the new bridge by the Mississippi Historical Commission was unveiled during the ceremonies by Miss Edna, Queen of Pass Christian.

This was the second of a series of TV sets given away by Ramond's as an advertising program. Winner of the first set was Mr. Wayne Allison, Marine Street.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lawrence, of Memphis, Tenn., have been spending their days in Bay St. Louis in a first set.

After the dedication a reception and dinner was held at Hotel Reed, where the speaker was Mr. Wayne Allison, Marine Street.

PUBLIC HEARING ON BEACH ZONING IS HELD MONDAY

Council to Study Transcript Of Meeting Before Making Final Decision on Proposal

A public hearing was held Monday to discuss the proposed Ordinance 133, regarding zoning of certain sections of North Bay St. Louis. Due to the large number of people present, the meeting was transferred from City Hall to the courtroom in the courthouse.

The proposed ordinance, which has been published by the Commission Council, was drawn up by Atty. George Smith of Gulfport at the request of the Property Owner's Association of Bay St. Louis.

Roger Bob, president of the organization, and Paul Gaudet, vice-president, were principal speakers on behalf of the ordinance. The group seeks to restrict commercial enterprise on North Beach adjacent to the new bridge. They hold that such zoning is essential to the future of the town.

Leader of the opposition to the ordinance was Wilson Weibre, who spoke on behalf of future businesses that he claimed would benefit the town if the controversial area is not restricted.

The opening by Weibre of a retail ice cream business just south of the new bridge was a primary factor leading to the zoning controversy. A transcript of the meeting was recorded and will be studied by the Commission Council. The decision of adoption or rejection of the ordinance rests with them.

recent discontinuance of certain trains by the L & N.

Accompanying Black was Asst. Div. Sup't. Sullivan and Passenger Rep. Schumaker.

Major John Scafide presided at the meeting, and letters which had been received by the Council were read to the railroad representatives.

Major John Scafide presided at the meeting, and letters which had been received by the Council were read to the railroad representatives.

Representatives from the mail clerks at the meeting received a suggestion from Black that train 37 stop in Bay St. Louis for the convenience of railway mail clerks, many of whom reside in the Bay.

When asked if other passengers would be allowed to board or alight from train 37, Black replied in the negative. The delegation representing the mail clerks then rejected Black's proposal, contending they were a part of the community and did not warrant any privileges that were denied other residents.

Black then suggested that train 6, the "Hummingbird," would stop at Gulfport for the convenience of the mail clerks. The delegates referred to this as an "empty offer," as number 6 already is making this stop.

City attorney Dan Russell read a law from Section 7783 of the Mississippi Code of 1942 that states "Every railroad shall cause each and all of its passenger trains to stop for passengers at all county seats at which there is a depot."

A transcription of the meeting will be submitted by the Council and Black will report his findings to headquarters.

FASHION SHOW TO FEATURE LOCAL CHILDREN

Christ Church PTA To Be Hostesses At Showing August 26

Members of Christ Church Parish School PTA will be hostesses at a fashion show of children's clothes Wednesday, August 26 at 3 p.m. at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

The youthful designs have been created and custom made by Ruth Hackell East and Sally Moss Kunster of New Orleans.

With school and fall weather in mind, the collection consists of cottons in prints, plaids, solids and cotton tweeds. All are washable materials.

Each design may be made up in any color or material and will be made to fit the individual measurements of the child. Orders will be accepted at the showing.

Sizes range from 1 through 8 in girls designs and 1 through 6 for the young gentlemen. All the models will be students of the school.

Tickets will be on sale at the door.

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

By C. M. Shipp

WHY is man such a nervous, irritable, nervous, fidgety individual? Mother Nature seems to contribute so much to his weirdness. The philosophes say it is the little things in life that count. Probably, we set in mind the deeds of kindness, rememberances, affection and many virtues that raise man above the lower animals. Truly with us it is the little things that count, for his whole being is a mass of microscopic specks of protoplasm in the shape of tiny cells that took form, color and growth and began to function as a living thing in orderly fashion in compliance to biological laws. Once this arrangement is validated, cancer raises its horrid head. This pattern of all life applies to all living things, both large and small.

The old earth on which we live was once a barren rock. The soil that supports our vegetation is the result of the grinding and crushing and wearing down processes, aided by atmospheric changes. These rocks are formed in a definite plan which never changes. I might look on a granite shaft and see the polished and glazed surface and marvel at its beauty, but the man of science would immediately recognize the crystal formation by which all rocks are made. He would notice the mice,

DR. KELLEHER DIES OF HEART AILMENT

Dr. Charles Kelleher, summer resident of Hancock County and well known dentist and civic leader in New Orleans, was buried Saturday morning at 10:30 from his residence in New Orleans, 1702 Valence St.

Interment was in Metairie Cemetery, with the House of Bultman handling funeral arrangements.

Dr. Kelleher, a professor emeritus of oral surgery at Loyola University, and the founder of Charity Hospital's dental service, died Thursday, July 30, at 10:10 a.m. of a heart ailment.

He was chairman of the Times-Picayune Doll and Toy Fund for several years, and its oldest living member.

Son of the late Mary Cody Kelleher and Timothy Kelleher of Springfield, he moved to New Orleans in 1890, where he attended Public Schools. In 1904 he entered the New Orleans Dental College, and three years later was graduated from the Ohio College of Dental Surgery.

Dr. Kelleher is survived by his widow, the former Mary Alice Caldwell, two daughters, Alice Marie Kelleher and Mrs. Mary S. Hardin Jr., a sister, Mrs. Wendell P. Simpson, and two brothers, William J. Kelleher of New Orleans and Joseph J. Kelleher of Bay St. Louis.

Dr. Kelleher and his family maintained a summer residence at Waveland for a number of years. More recently he purchased a place on the Jordan River, and spent much time in Hancock County.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hill will be in Jacksonville, Fla., during the month of August. Mr. and Mrs. Robert New, who have resided in the New Orleans area, will be returning to their home in the same city, where they will remain with Morris Chapman and Scott Evans, their son, who now resides in Memphis, Tenn., with their families also residing there.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward and little daughter, Sharon, are making a two week visit to Jacksonville, Fla., in perfect formations of crystals which, by the addition of water, are dissolved, giving us clear, transparent liquids. But after heating, the water is evaporated off in the form of steam, the salt will recrystallize in exactly the same pattern as it was in its former state. This is caused by the little molecules that form the salt.

These tiny objects shift into their proper places like the cadets in the proper grounds at West Point. These atoms are built up from electrons, protons and neutrons, all moving like mad in their little orbits. There is no way to stop this molecular action unless we reduce them in temperature to absolute zero, which is 306 degrees below freezing point. Should this happen, no life of any kind would exist on this earth.

In the beginning, we mentioned that Miss Sheila Hoitmann, Miss Honoreine Dambrino and Miss Patry Favre left Saturday morning for Houston, Texas, to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Sternicker and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loiacino are back from a vacation spent at Panama City, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Farr are vacationing in Kentucky. They will return next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Helm motored to Pensacola, Fla. Tuesday.

Mrs. D. L. Burns of Watervalley, Miss., is a guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Shipp.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sutherland and children of Hattiesburg, Miss., are spending two weeks in Bay St. Louis, during their stay they are occupying the Seal Cottage on Carroll Ave.

Mr. H. Palmer of Pittsburg, Pa., is a guest of his daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith in Clarendon Harbor. Mrs. Palmer has been South about two weeks, and plans to stay until after the arrival of the Smith baby.

Miss Ethyl Duffy of New Orleans was a recent guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bentz at their home on Julia St.

Mrs. F. M. Stapp of Wiggins is visiting her daughter and family the Walter Rausch at their home on Hickory Lane.

The annual meeting of the members of the Mississippi Home Demonstration Agents was held at Magnolia State Park in Picayune, where the meeting was held. It had a wonderful time and took a swimming trip for exercise in the water.

On Tuesday of this week Mrs. Houghville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deane Bourgeois and Raymond King of Lumberton were accompanied to Picayune by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bay, Extension Agent of 4-H Club and Mrs. Sarah Weaver, Home Demonstration Agent. While in Picayune, the two young 4-H Clubbers presented a most interesting discussion of their recent trip to Ocean Springs over radio station WRJB, Picayune.

One of the most delightful parties of the summer was given by Mrs. Gladys Wegmann on Saturday afternoon honoring Mrs. Virginia Smith who is anticipating a most blessed event.

The shower, held in the attractive Wegmann residence on Beach Boulevard, was attended by many who offered congratulations and lovely gifts.

The table was beautifully decorated in pink and blue baby breath and was topped by a delicious two tiered cake, garnished with a stork and baby cradle. The gifts were presented to Mrs. Smith by Mrs. Wegmann, a most gracious hostess. The gifts were found nestled in a pink and white bassinet. Later during the afternoon refreshments were served: pink and white chicken

"Young Bess" At Star
Sun., Mon., Tues.
Aug 9 - 10 11

"Young Bess," the story of England's famous "Babes Queen," has been brought to the screen by McGraw in a spectacular and operatic Technicolor production and with a brilliant cast starring Jean Simmons, Stewart Granger, Deborah Kerr, and Charles Laughton.

Based on the novel by Margaret Imlay, that is the story of the spirited and tempestuous Princess Elizabeth of 16th Century England, who, estranged from her father, the just and violent Henry VIII, when the latter had her mother, Anne Boleyn, beheaded, outmaneuvered the plotting of the ambitious Lord Protector, Ned Seymour, to become monarch of her realm at the age of twenty-five. It also is the deeply moving story of Young Bess's love for the dashing and danceloving Admiral Thomas Seymour, a love which could never be consummated because of Tom's marriage to Catherine, her father's last Queen, and which has further tragic sequences when Tom is executed on trumped-up charges against the throne. Young Bess went down in history as the greatest Queen her country ever had—and as the queen who never married. Producer Sidney Franklin and George Sidney, directing, have not permitted the pomp and regal backgrounds of "Young Bess" nor the suspenseful plotting of its protagonist at Court to interfere with their illuminating portrait of the valiant young girl who was to become Britain's future queen and the story emerges as a moving and compassionate drama of great and lasting love.

Its roles have been entrusted to one of the screen's most knowing casts. In the title role Jean Simmons offers a compelling and emotionally persuasive portrayal of the spirited and fearless princess who never wavers in her devotion to the only man whom she could ever love. Stewart Granger brings this man, the heroic Tom Seymour, to life in a vivid and rousing acting performance, one of the finest he has yet given.

Charles Rhodes

Contest Run—Bingo

Mr. Charles Rhodes, the former James Rhodes, is a contest fan. But he is the fine sort of fan—a winner. During the last couple of years, the boy won more than $35 US Savings Bonds with Dixie Doodles.

More recently the young nation-wide fan to make good, Dennis Fenton, the Texas boy from whom we submitted by Mrs. Rhodes, and one red among those selected. His efforts were rewarded with a Bandit Radio and Clock Combination.

And it looks as if his children are going to be winners much on the up-ticks as their older mother. In the Enterprize section of the Times-News there is a section that pays for "bright sayings" of children. A week ago, Jessie submitted something said by her young son, Dusty, and a first prize was forthcoming.

The saying went like this:

Mrs. Rhodes was whipping egg whites to frost a cake she had baked for the children. The use of an aluminum bowl had discolored the whites, giving them a greyish cast. To cover up this rather dirty white shade, she used a little green vegetable coloring. Young Dusty was watching his mother in all she did, and when he saw the green coloring he said, "Gee, Mom, now we even have chlorophyll icing on our cakes."

We shall discuss our Faith from a positive viewpoint, for certainly our Faith has more than a negative denial.

With the assurance of the Christian

Truths, which we believe in thorough harmony with the mind that was in Jesus Christ.

WE DID YOU WELCOME

For the next three Sunday, at the morning hour of worship, our message will be based on our Fundamental Beliefs and Faith.

Certainly there are many reasons why we are Christians, and it shall be our purpose in these messages to give you some of the strongest reasons why this faith lives in our hearts and minds.

We shall discuss our Faith from a positive viewpoint, for certainly our Faith has more than a negative denial.

With the assurance of the Christian

Truths, which we believe in thorough harmony with the mind that was in Jesus Christ.

White Witch Doctor

Playing At Drive-In

Sunday and Monday

"White Witch Doctor," an adventure set in a little-known region of the Belgian Congo in Africa, with Susan Hayward and Robert Mitchum, will play at the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre Sunday and Monday, August 9 and 10.

Producer Otto Lang and a Twentieth Century Fox camera crew spent three months filming background scenes in Technicolor in the abode of a strange tribe of people called the Bakubas some 1200 miles inland from the West Coast of Africa at the confluence of the Kasai and Sankuru rivers. They brought back to Hollywood scenes from the vast Congo basin that never before have been presented to motion picture audiences.

The Bakubas are a tall race, well above the average height of the Central African tribes, with many of the men exceeding six feet. Their faces are long and oval, with noses not too flattened and lips not too prominent.

Their skin varies from reddish bronze to clear black.

The story of "White Witch Doctor," based on a novel of the same name by Louise A. Stentor, concerns a nurse, Ellen Burton, portrayed by Miss Hayward, who goes to Africa to volunteer her services in giving medical aid to the natives. She is guided to her distant jungle outpost by a hunter, Louie Douglas, played by Mitchum.

Their adventures en route and at their destination in the Bakuba country provide spectacular excitement and their conflict with native witch doctors develops fierce dramatic impact heightened by Mitchum's search for hidden gold, known only to the Bakubas.

Walter Slezak in the role of Huys-man, Mitchum's business partner, accomplished a double cross of his partner to only have his plans for quick riches lead to death. A romance between Miss Hayward and Mitchum adds another aspect of color and story power to the scenes of the African jungle.

The sleeping cast of "White Witch Doctor" includes Mohamed Ali, a year-old native African who speaks fluent English in a pidgin language; Joseph G. Narriss, Eliot, Timothy Carey and Oh, Gosh.

Dix Conroy, T. W. Wilson, a missionary from the Congo, and a technical consultant and serves as language coach in teaching the members of the cast. Tschibanga, the native singer employed in the tribal sequences in the picture.

Baby Shower Honors

Mrs. Bill Smith

Mrs. Joseph Weigman entertained Saturday afternoon at her Waveland Beach home with a baby shower honoring Mrs. W. W. Smith and the expected arrival.

A bassinet filled with gifts was placed in the living room. The reception rooms of the house were tastefully adorned with arrangements of pink and blue flowers.

The tea-table in the dining room was especially attractive, with a silver centerpiece surrounded by silvered baby breath and pink and blue flowers nestling on delicate ferns.

Finger sandwiches in pink and blue bread, with petit fours in pink and blue, carried the color scheme into the refreshments. About twenty guests were present.

AIR FORCE PLANS WORKSHOP

An Air force ROTC regional instructors' workshop will be held at Mississippi State College August 3 to August 14, according to Lt. Col. Walter P. Williams, professor of air science and tactics. Twenty-one ROTC officers from 20 colleges and universities will participate. Major Bob D. Fox, Assistant PASSAT at Mississippi State College will direct the workshop and serve as instructor.
